

April 2011

I have taken two tours with Astrid and both have been wonderful.

If you would like a vacation that someone else worries about all the details and you sit back and enjoy the sights, then a European Castles Tour is for you. Let a seasoned local get you past all the waiting and lines so you can see as much as possible during your trip.

Not a minute is wasted yet there is still free time to enjoy individual interests. Lunches are on your own but hardly necessary as breakfast is so plentiful.

If you are considering another tour company, please consider the included traditional foods and drinks that are provided. Also there are no budget-busting optional excursions with these tours. Everything is included with no surprises!

Last but not least, the personal service and attention you will receive from your guide will be the icing on the cake. After a day or two, you will feel like you are with friends and family - not on a "tour". I can't wait to begin planning my third tour!!

April Cook, West Virginia,
for herself and her mother, Patricia Coleman